

Trust Him and give my life to Him, He will do for us.

Colonel (A) Han, Hyun-jin

General Affairs, KMCF

I am of the 3rd Christian generation, which means my grandparents were one of the first believers in Korea.

I have attended church service from my childhood but I did not have any belief for my savior Jesus Christ when I was young. I just went to the church at that time because my parents asked me to do so.

After graduated from the Military Academy, I tried to seek God to solve my difficulties. But, it was not because I sincerely believed God, but because I had to find out someone I could communicate with. I needed something to depend on myself because the first mission assigned to me was such a lonely and hard work in a remote place with no one to share my worries.

I had made complaints when something went wrong in my life saying “God is not with me.”

However, He presented me His big plan.

In year 2000, He came to me and showed me this bible verse.

“It is not the healthy who need a doctor, but the sick. I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. (Luke 5:31–32).”

I knew that He had waited me to repent and come back to Him. I sincerely accepted that He is my savior and king of the world. He was crucified to give us eternal life.

He made my military career prosperous after I said I would follow His Way. I know He prepares the best one for his family.

It is not easy to do God's work actively as a military officer because soldiers have to defend their own country with their whole spirit. That might give many military personnel difficulties to do MCF missions in their position. However, He prepares brilliant ways to do them if we ask for wisdom.

In 2018, East Asia Interaction Conference was held in Korea and I was assigned as a program manager of KMCF for the conference. I could do it because He prepared a lot of sincere military Christian fellows to help me to manage the conference. I should confess that it could not be done without His work.

I believe that all good things God works for will be accomplished, that He gives us peace and prosper, when we trust Him and give our life to Him.
